TRESMORE SERVICE GUIDE

Tresmore Service Guide

Introduction

Tresmore takes the lead in advancing towards the 4th Industrial Revolution, a digital revolution characterized by a fusion of technologies that is blurring the lines between the physical, digital, and biological spheres, with the best and most advanced products and services. Our use of big data is to extract and analyze useful and valuable information to establish our own big data driven business.

We collect and analyze big data contributed by members. Members are rewarded for their participation in our data collection process. Also, Tresmore provides a convenient cloud-based system for easy management of personal information and data. Our products provide comprehensive services that combine reward programs and e-commerce transactions, creating a one-stop solution.

Platform Service

- 1) Premium CRM / PIMS Features: Tresmore CRM (Customer Relationship Management)/PIMS (Personal Information Management) provides a customer management and business operation platform that is both flexible and easy to use, and gives users referral rewards with sharing and usage.
- 2) E-Commerce Market Place & Payment System: TresMall and TresWallet are new developments created to facilitate enhanced e-commerce transactions for Tresmore users. TresMall is a virtual shopping platform, providing rebates with purchases, and TresWallet is a consolidated and hassle-free payment method that enables transaction monitoring management.
- 3) Big Data Analysis & Reward Program: Tresmore utilizes information gathered from users for analysis to create chains and franchise opportunities. Donors of information are rewarded for the quality and quantity of information they provide.

Tresmore and Big Data Analytics

Tresmore provides its members with a generous cash back program and also focuses on big data collection and analytics. "Big data analytics" includes not only large data collection, but it becomes useful only when meaningful information is properly extracted from which accurate conclusions can be obtained. Initially various technologies focused on the speed and scale of data collection, but now the focus has shifted to big data analysis and methods to transform information into marketable business tools. Big data analytics enables configuration of patterns of consumer spending habit, correlation between disease and genetic make-ups, and price relationship among different stocks. Such patterns found in big data analysis carry strong statistical significance with strong predictive capabilities, powerful in driving profit for many industries.

Tresmore finds accurate patterns within consumer spending habits by analyzing member-contributed purchase information, and supports business owners to grow their profits and consumer base with data analytics. We are excited to play a major role in the beginning of big data revolution, and we will continue to prioritize consumer's satisfaction.
